Rome Summer Project 08

We had an incredible 5 weeks doing ministry in Italy this summer leading the Rome Summer Project. Our team of 20 students and staff joined with the long term staff that are in Rome to take the gospel to Roma Tre University. Overall our team had spiritual conversations with 150 students, personally presented the gospel to 40, and saw three Roman students indicate a decision to trust Christ. Here are some snapshots of what God did while we were there:

Allie, Michael, and Katie all had the experience of seeing Roman Students trust Christ.

“Coffee?” asked Allesandro, a student at Roma Tre University. Alie and Michael, students on the Rome Summer Project nodded their heads. They had already been talking about the gospel for most of the afternoon. As they walked toward the café Alie shared her testimony with Allesandro, which included showing him a scar from an accident years ago, an event that led her to start following Christ. Allesandro showed Alie a scar he had from a time that he had nearly been killed. Alie told him that she thought God had kept him alive so that he could hear the message they were sharing with him. They went through a Knowing God Personally booklet with him and he prayed to receive Christ.

Maria is a freshmen at Roma Tre who Courtney and Katie met on campus. She prayed to receive Christ the first time they met. After that she hung out with the students on project quite a bit and is planning on going through a foundations Bible study series with Alyssa, one of the long term staff in Rome.

Our favorite part of any summer project is the amazing students and staff we get to work with. Amy helped lead the small group pictured above and disciple two of the women in the group. The project studied the book of 1 Peter. Andy enjoyed developing the staff men on the project including Brock, a student intern for the summer, who we are praying will join our staff after graduation.

The Rest of the Summer

We’re excited to have a good block of time between now and when our team in Chicago gets back together in early August to connect with many of you. We realize some of you have not yet met both of us. We’ll also be looking to meet with new potential ministry partners. Please keep this time in your prayers as we do need a significant amount of new support this summer. Thank you so much for your continued partnership in this ministry. You are making an impact around the globe!!

With Jesus’ Love,
